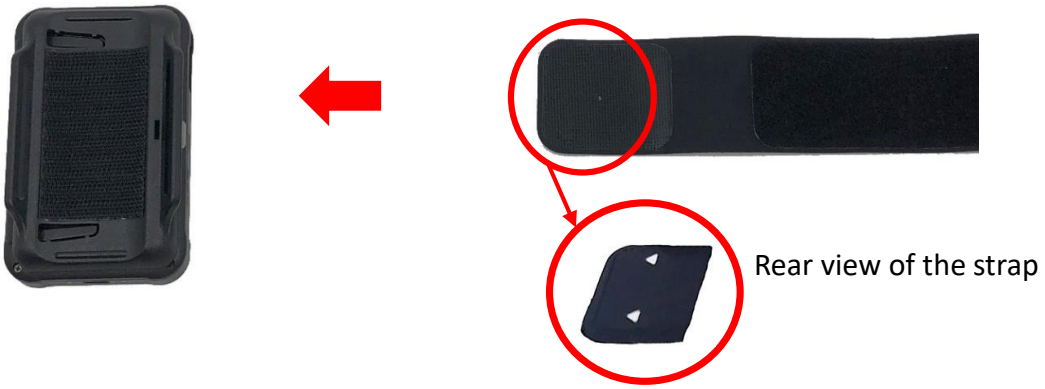
How to Attach WD200 Wrist Holder Kit (Continued)

1. Flip the WD200 to its rear side, with the power button facing to the left.
2. Flip the bracket so that the Velcro side is facing upward.
3. Slide the WD200 into the two recesses on the bracket. A CLICK sound will confirm successful attachment.

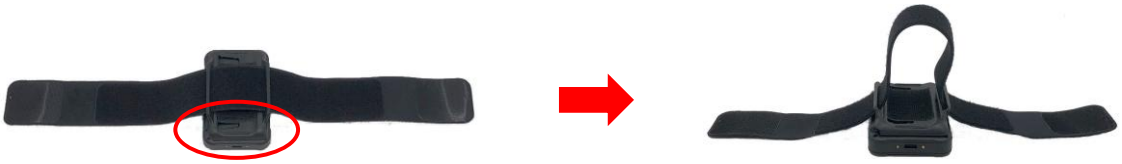
4. When holding the strap, make sure the arrows on the back are pointing toward the direction of the bracket.
5. Make sure the Velcro side of the strap is facing upward.



6. Thread the strap through the slot connection.

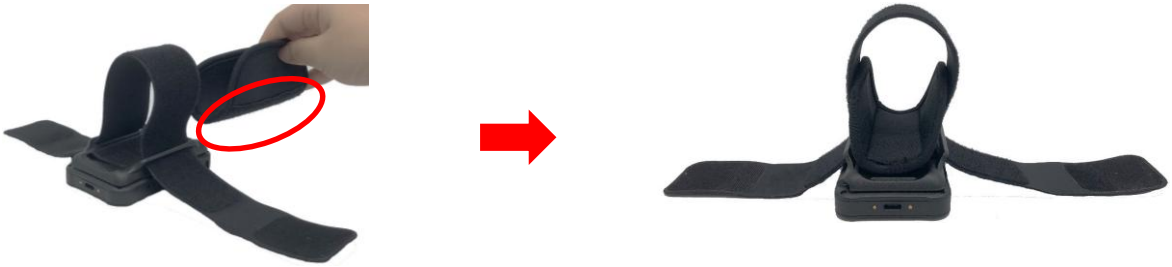
How to Attach WD200 Wrist Holder Kit

7. Adjust the strap and bracket to create a space suitable for your wrist.

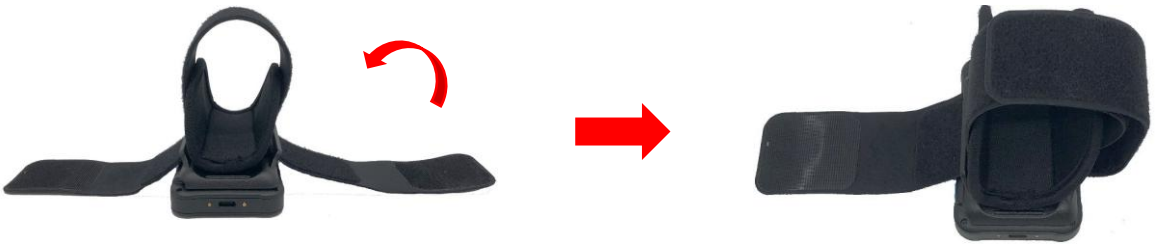


8. Attach the pad to the bracket.

Note: Make sure the Velcro side of the pad is facing downward and aligns properly with the bracket.



9. Attach one end of the Velcro to the wrist strap, making sure the end with Velcro on the back comes up first.



10. Attach the other end of the Velcro to the strap. You should see the arrows pointing upward.

Getting Started

Wear the wrist holder kit on your wrist, and you're ready to start your mobility tasks.

Note: The wrist holder kit can be worn on either hand. Just make sure the camera is facing outward.
